

RiskBox Entertainment

Case Studies

Developing insurance alongside changing activities

Need for a quick response to changing activities and an ability to adapt insurance to cover evolving risks

Developing insurance alongside changing activities

Case Study Outline

Business Type — Entertainment venue

Size — 100 Employees

Specialism — Venues and pop-up events

Annual Turnover — £10,000,000

Need for a quick response to changing activities and an ability to adapt insurance to cover evolving risks

Our client has experienced numerous changes during its history – taking the form of a single venue, a late license club, a niche activity entertainment spot, and a continued pop-up presence at festivals. With new changes come new insurance requirements – and RiskBox work closely with this multifaceted business in multiple locations to make arranging cover as simple as possible.

The Challenge

A collective that has been in operation for several years, this company runs various ventures in the entertainment sector simultaneously. They often need to react quickly to seize business opportunities, meaning insurance has to be arranged fast.

This can be compounded by the need for bespoke cover due to the nature of the business' activities. Additionally, with so many plates spinning, finding time is a challenge for our client – so the process of obtaining information needed to be efficient and painless.

Our Solution

RiskBox have dealt with the venue closely throughout their growth journey, meeting several times a year to keep abreast of potential changes and opportunities for the business. This proactive approach has prevented potential obstacles and enabled the faster collection of information with minimal disruption.

We've also kept pricing competitive and cover comprehensive – allowing the insured to budget accurately, with comfort in the knowledge that their risks are covered.

Seeking rapid support for changing circumstances?

Speak to us for more information.

Website : www.riskboxuk.com

Phone : 0161 533 0411

Email : info@riskboxuk.com